All Different, All Equal

This week is Anti-bullying week and this year's theme links well to our current value of the month (RESPECT). It promotes difference and equality in schools with the tag-line 'All Different, All Equal'. At St. Joseph's we are delighted that we have very few incidents of bullying, however we feel it is important to still raise awareness within our school community. It is great to be a part of a national initiative and to show our solidarity in taking a stand against bullying as both pupils and adults can be affected.
